Plans for a new golf course and race track are carried forth in negotiations just completed which dispose of approximately 282 acres of land along Telegraph road and a stretch off of Rockland road, two-and-one-half miles west of Lake Bluff.

The plans were announced that Melvin J. Cassidy, representing the new interests, had purchased 210 acres of the Kato D. Haven farm land and 72 acres of other land, of which 58 acres was owned by Sarah J. Whittell.

The price of the purchase was indicated at $100,000 subject to an encumbrance of $19,250.

According to the plans as disclosed to land owners in that section, the idea of obtaining the land, centers about the desire to beautify the tract in general and to add a further incentive in the establishment of the golf course and new race track.

The Haven farm is in Telegraph road west of Lake Bluff and the Whittell property is located in a tract set back from Rockland road nearby.

Mrs. Nellie Renahan aged 59, of Round Lake, wife of the late Edward Renahan, died Saturday morning after a short illness.

The deceased had been a resident of Lake county all her life, living at Fox Lake in her youth and moving to Round Lake many years ago. She was the daughter of James Welch, a county pioneer.

One son is left, Floyd, of Round Lake, and three daughters, Mrs. P. J. Meyer of Round Lake; Mrs. Wm. Menck of Chicago, and Miss Olive, a teacher in the Central school, at North Chicago.

She was a sister in law of George and Jason Renahan of Round Lake. The funeral services were held on Tuesday.

About seventy-five farmers attended a sauer kraut dinner given at Weller's hall, Burlington last week by John Wolf. They were guests of Mr. Wolf on the occasion of an address to be given by J. C. Walker of Madison on "Cabbage Seeds and the Plants." The address followed the dinner Mr. Wolf treated his guests to cigars, remarking that they were made from some of last year's cabbage leaves.

Thirty-two head of matured Brown Swiss cattle brought an average of 200 per head at the sale of H. W. Ayers at Honey Creek last week. Including the young bulls thirty-nine head were sold for a total of $6,970, or an average of $170 per head.

Blue prints and dedications for the securing of the right-of-way for route 20 as same will pass thru the city of McHenry and thence to connect up with the cement roads now under construction both east and west arrived the latter part of last week and local officials are losing no time in getting the dedications signed up.

The latest political development of importance in Lake county affairs is the word from Springdale that Chas. Wightman of Grayslake has filed his petition as candidate for the state senate on the democratic ticket.

And now comes the word from Round Lake that the recent bear story as circulated in many of the papers of northern Illinois was all a fake.

John F. Herzog, county highway commissioner, of Kenosha announced that road connections have been restored with New Munster and thru to Silverlake, Wilmot and Somers. Ever since the main highways leading in and out of the city were opened, the machines and men have been working west on Highway 50, he said. In addition ten miles of the Burlington road has been broken open, although considerable difficulty has been found with the drifting and the condition is said to be none too good. Road connection with Lake Geneva, it was stated, will probably not be restored until the snow melts from the roads. Walworth county it is said, is making

H. S. Basketweavers Ready for Big Tournament

After a strenuous week of practicing, the Antioch high school basketball team is confident of winning from Libertyville at the district tournament which starts at Highland Park this afternoon. Antioch, however, does not get into the battle until tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at two o'clock.

The winner of the Antioch-Libertyville game plays Gurnee at 8 o'clock Friday night. The winner of this battle will go into the finals Saturday night and will at least be assured of fourth place. With such teams as Oak Park, Evanston, New Trier, Deerfield and Waukegan in the tournament, a placement within the first four is considered quite an honor.

Antioch played Wauconda at the latter's "trick" gym last Friday evening and were handed a 19 to 10 defeat. The Wauconda gym is very small and has a low ceiling, and players not acquainted with the floor are under a great handicap. All of Antioch's ten points were scored by Nelson. This defeat does not discourage the boys in the least, as they all unite in saying, "watch us at the tournament."

The Antioch Athletic Club lost a one-sided game on Saturday evening to the Somers, Wis., five. This is the second win for the Badger five over Antioch. The score was 44 to 22. In the preliminary game the high school farm mechanics team defeated the Antioch Boy Scouts.

With the close of the time for filing petitions of election, fourteen Lake county men have signified their aspirations to become servants of the people by holding offices here and while six offices are open to be filled, the majority of those desiring county positions are after the job of state's attorney. The time for filing is closed and only three of the positions will be contested by the petitioners. The clerk of the circuit court, the county recorder, and the senatorial committeeman jobs are filed for by but a single candidate. The following are the men running for county jobs:

Bred Sow Sale at Chesney Farms On March 12

There will be a bred sow and gilt sale at the Chesney Farms in Lake Villa on Wednesday, March 12. This sale is being held for the farmers and breeders in this county especially and it will afford the local breeders the very best of pure-bred stock at auction prices.

Illinois farmers raised 85 ton litters in the state last year. Chesney Farms will duplicate all prize moneys offered by the Lake County Fair for pigs shown from litters of these sows, and also ten dollars for every ton litter produced from these sows.

The sale will be held in the heated sale pavilion on Chesney Farms and forty head of sows and gilts will be offered to the public. Col. Walter Chin will be the auctioneer, and selling will start at 1 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Ada Chin has been on the sick list for several days.

Report cards go out Friday.

County Officials Move into New Offices

County Treasurer Ira Pearsall and his force moved to the new treasurer's offices in the new addition to the county building Saturday afternoon. The treasurer's office is completed and ready for occupancy and while the workmen are laying the new floor in the old hallway, the entrance to the offices will be from the south side of the new addition.

County Clerk Lew A. Hendee moved his effects and opened business in the new offices Monday morning. Workmen are moving the big records of county work from many years back and the files of probate and county work have been in the process of moving for several days.

The treasurer's office in the new addition is located on the first floor on the south side of the hall midway down the new addition from the old part. The county clerk's office is located directly across the hall. The offices of both departments are much larger than the old and they are given more vault space while the section for those calling to do business is separated from the work rooms.

Results of advertising in New England showed in some cities per capita consumption of more than double the consumption in Chicago. The figures at that time showed Chicago as one of the poorest consumers of milk, and considering its food value, the poorest paid commodity.

The local plant expects to install a new separator this week and it is said that this will enable the plant to take care of every can of milk in this section, including the old Marketing Company members.

A well attended meeting of milk producers was held at the Star theatre at Grayslake Tuesday evening. The general tendency of the meeting was toward uniting the producers into one organization. The speakers of the evening were Frank Fowler, Judge Peelan, Charles Sibley and Labor Organizer Stanley of Waukegan. Senator Swift made a few remarks. The meeting did not break up until 12:30.

Richmond Plant to Close

The Milk Producers Marketing Co. plant in Richmond will be closed on Friday of this week and no more milk will be received at this saloon at least until another company takes over the place.

Francis Howden, who has attended to the shipping from the Richmond plant for the past several weeks, left Sunday for Chicago where he has accepted a position with the Bowman company. George Grant has had charge of the plant here this week.

Harmony Meet With Dealers Is a Success

Everything Points to Long Period Contract on April 1

A get-together meeting of the Milk Board of the Milk Producers association and representatives of the dealers of Chicago was held Friday at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago. There was a real spirit of harmony shown, and all present were highly elated over the outcome of the meeting.

Points of interest leading up to the price-setting meeting to be held Friday were discussed. The trend of the subject on length of time for the new contract seemed to point to a long period. A contract extending for the period of one year was mentioned, but there seemed to be a little balking on such a long period. Nevertheless, it showed that a fair period contract might be reached and optimism was raised to a point where it was thought that at least six months would be the terms written into the next contract, if not better.

The question of price, of course, was not discussed, but it is expected that the board will approach the buyers next Friday with a $2.75 proposition. If this can be put across, and any fair period time is obtained, this will enable the producers to work out their association plans for a strong organization.

There are already plans being discussed for the future policy of the association, and the subjects leaking out from these discussions lead to some form of control over the farmers output, or delivery.

Another question receiving considerable attention is the increasing of the demand for milk in Chicago. This will be brought about by advertising. There is no question that with the proper method and advertising that demand for milk can be brought up to the point where the old bugaboo of surplus milk can be any longer held over the farmers head. It certainly will be the era of a new business for the farmers if the dealers and producers can get together on a consistent advertising program.

Results of advertising in New England showed in some cities per capita consumption of more than double the consumption in Chicago. The figures at that time showed Chicago as one of the poorest consumers of milk, and considering its food value, the poorest paid commodity.

Judging from the number of people who attended the annual membership meeting and the number of residents who have already paid in their dues, 1924 looks like a big year for the Fox River & Lakes Improvement association.

Wm. A. Oppenheimer of Green Bay, of the firm of Oppenheimer & Obie of that city, was in Burlington last week with the plans for the new High school building. At a meeting of the school board some slight changes were made in the same and Mr. Oppenheimer was instructed to mail the plans as soon as changes are made to various contractors who want to bid on them. The date for opening bids has been set for Wednesday, March 19. Whether the contract will be let at that time is uncertain. The sum of $200,000 has been voted for the building and if bids are not within the limit it may be necessary to advertise again for bids.

The will of Miss Florence J. Drue was filed last week, naming L. P. Hanna of Waukegan as executor. The legatees in the estate are Miss Olive Coleman, H. V. Cleveland, and Mrs. Johnson. Miss Coleman, came to Grayslake thirteen years ago from the east and taught school here for one or two years. She became acquainted with Miss Drue and the two since that time have been inseparable. She will receive the income from all the real estate during her life. At her death it is to go to the children of Miss Drue's half sister, Harold Cleveland, who is well known here gets the stocks in the Waukegan store. The half sister, Mrs. Johnson was bequeathed only a nominal sum. The estate was estimated at $55,000.

Kenosha and Kenosha county is very much interested in a movement which is on foot in Wisconsin counties to take steps to halt "child weddings" at Waukegan, this being the Grima Green for all Wisconsin youthful elopers. The proposed action on the part of the Waukegan authorities in investigating what they believe to be the elopement of a number of high school students who are alleged to have been married is believed to be but the first step in a similar course that is planned in several Wisconsin cities.

A meeting of patrons and stockholders of the Badger Dairy company of Burlington and also dairymen in that vicinity was held last week at Weller's hall to consider the matter of operating the plant of the Badger Dairy Co., in that city after March 1, when the Cooperative Marketing Co., who have a ten year lease on the plant, go out of business.

Seeks $1 a Mile for Having Acted as "Walking Advertisement"

Residents of San Diego, Calif., are anxiously awaiting the outcome on the claims of Henry Stewart, an aged pedestrian, who asserts that that city owes him the magnificent sum of $100,000 for the hired use of "his pup-pies"—er, excuse us—feet. That's what he told the city attorney there—nearly causing that official's heart to stop.

According to Stewart, it all came about some years ago when some supposedly over-zealous mayor of San Diego is alleged to have promised him (Stewart) the modest sum of $1 a mile if he would walk around the world advertising the approaching San Diego exposition. Stewart claims he walked 100,000 miles from city to city, visiting many foreign lands.

When he put his bill up to the city attorney, it was the first that official had heard of the veteran hiker. And while taken by surprise, he declined to pass on it, without making an exhaustive investigation. After ascertaining who was mayor of the city when Stewart started on his long journey and getting other data relative to the promises made the aged hiker, he is hopeful of amicably reaching a financial settlement of the question in some form.

FATHERS AND SONS BANQUET

The boys of the Agricultural classes of the local high school and their fathers are to have a banquet at the high school Friday, March 14th, at 6:30. For the first time in the history of the department this event is to take place. It is hoped that it will become an annual affair.

SEED CORN TESTING

IS VERY NECESSARY

Did you ever stop to think why you only had three-fourths of a stand of corn? It certainly does not pay to replant your field when it is much easier to plant the corn a little thicker or get good seed.

There may be several causes for poor stands but there is one that we can prevent. We can test our seed corn during the winter or early spring to see whether or not it will germinate. Don't take any chances this year with your corn seed unless

Lake Villa
Holstein Makes
Butter Record

An extraordinary record for the production of butter was made recently by a purebred Holstein cow in the herd of E. F. Clark at Lake Villa. According to the advanced registry department of the Holstein-Friesian association of America this cow, Pieterje Dulce Johanna 3d, a senior three year old, produced in seven days 480.9 pounds milk and 18,833 pounds butterfat—equivalent to 23.54 pounds butter.

To prove the productive capacity of its cows, the dairy breed associations maintain advanced registry departments, which in conjunction with the state agricultural colleges carry on an organized system of officially testing the cows of the breed for milk and butterfat. These official tests are conducted by disinterested men appointed by the state agricultural colleges, are surrounded by every safeguard, and the results are universally accepted as reliable in all respects. This method for making tests originated with The Holstein-Friesian association of America, but has now been adopted in some of its forms by all of the associations of breeders of dairy cattle.

DRAWS UPON HER OWN LIFE

Kathleen Key, Irish and beautiful and who will be seen in an important role in Marshall Nelan's "The Rendezvous," the attraction at the Crystal theater, on Sunday, never has to decide what she will do under varying circumstances in her screen portrayals—she knows. From a very full and colorful life of twenty years already lived, the black-eyed Kathleen has a wealth of experience upon which she is able to draw for practically every emotion required. Extreme fright, she can gain atmosphere by remembering how she felt when, while riding on her pet shetland pony, a maddened bull dashed out of the willows and chased her. If asked to register awe and repulsion, she can remember her feelings when she came upon a dead man hanging in a tree on an isolated hill. If a royal role is allotted her, such as the Princess in Nelan's Russian drama, "The Rendezvous," Kathleen can harken back to her school days when she used to put on a "King and Queen" show, in which she was always the queen.

Buy Your Tires from a Firestone DEALER

At the Latest Prices—The Lowest in History

You will find the Firestone Dealer one of the stable business men of your community. He offers a clean, fresh stock, backed by a well organized service. He wants you as a permanent customer.

That is the reason he sells Firestone tires. He knows and has plenty of proof that they are the best tires on the market. He can give you the greatest value and thereby retain your trade for years.

Every day you find new proof of this unequalled value. On the 15th of this month, Firestone Tires set two new dirt track records at Syracuse when Tommy Milton slid around four turns at every mile and covered the 100 miles in 75 minutes, 33 hundredths seconds. He also established a new world's record for one mile by covering it in 42 and 28 hundredths seconds. The next four cars to finish were also equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords. Each one of them went the entire race without a stop. This and every other important race this year was won on Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes! Such performance gives you conclusive proof of their strength and durability.

Not only do race drivers use Firestone Tires as protection to their lives and the surest way to victory, but the largest tire buyers in the world insist on and buy Firestone Tires for economy and service. These buyers include the leading car manufacturers, the biggest commercial car operators and the taxicab and motorbus operators. 57,639,714 tire miles were sold to taxicab and motorbus operators in the month of August.

Think this over. You cannot afford to accept anything less than Firestone service and economy. You can buy this service and economy from any of the dealers.

New Economic War Forecasted

Instead of a battle and war of arms, the future will see a battle of economics, in which international cooperative organizations will combat international monopoly, Huston Thompson, chairman of the Federal Trade commission, Washington, told more than 600 farmers gathered here during Farmers' Week at Madison, Wisconsin, recently. Chairman Thompson spoke on "Cooperation as I see it in Europe," outlining the progress made in recent years by cooperative organizations in European nations.

Cooperation in Europe has made greater advances than in America, he said, primarily because of the tendency to hurry on the part of Americans in cooperative movements. He stated that one of the basic problems which must be considered in cooperative endeavors is that of financing the movement.

"Business the world over has been internationalized," Mr. Thompson declared. "The nations of one country are entering into contracts with those of another or are spreading their distributing organizations over other lands. Some have gone so far as to divide up the world's territory. Gradually over Europe, the consumers' cooperative organizations of the cities, and the one hand, and the farmers' purchasing organizations, on the other, are forming international buying organizations to combat monopolies.

"Every year at their international meetings, the question of international buying of raw materials is uppermost.

These discussions are expanding into action. As soon as the monetary situation among the nations is stabilized, international purchasing by these associations will be tremendously accelerated.

"To one observing this great economic movement in the world's history, a battle of arms will be very difficult to bring about if a stabilized peace can be maintained for a few years. Instead of battle of arms, the future will see a battle of economics, in which the international cooperative organizations will combat the international monopolies.

"The cooperative city consumer, as well as farmer groups, are providing the greatest lesson in economy that the world has ever seen. Through their agencies over 125 million people of Europe are purchasing the necessities of human life or the materials required for producing farm crops. They are doing this upon a cash basis, paying as they go.

"In this respect they are probably the greatest single force for reconstruction in Europe. In America we are paralleling the economic situation in Europe, but we are about two years behind. The reaction from the insistent price-fixing and monopoly that is going on in this country is driving the ultimate consumer of the city and the farmer into their respective cooperative organizations as in Europe. Instead of going on a buyers' strike as the housewives of America did in 1919 and 1920, the consumers of Europe flocked to the cooperative organizations.

"Abroad the farmers finance themselves through their own credit organizations. Each member of an association assumes unlimited liability for the loans made by his society to his fellow farmers. This eliminates the great land owner from the association, and makes for small compact groups who act with extreme care.

"When these small groups have pooled their resources into one great central organization that draws its funds from them, the farmer becomes practically independent in his banking operations.

"He is able to resist the fluctuations of the speculative financial markets of the cities, even though he may be indirectly injured by their actions, as is the situation in Denmark today."

A man who had dealt for some years with the same grocer found the latter out in some shady practices. Going to his shop he gave the delinquent a piece of his mind. "You're a swindler, and I'll never enter your shop again," he said.

Next day, however, he came back and bought five pounds of sugar. "I thought you were never going to enter my shop again," taunted the grocer.

"Well, I didn't mean to," said the customer, coldly, "but you is the only shop in the place where I can get what I want. You see, I am going to pot some plants, and I need sand."

Methodist Episcopal Church News

Church School 9:45 a.m.
Service of Worship 10:45 a.m.
Service of Worship 7:30 p.m.

Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Nason Sibley Thursday afternoon. The choir will rehearse at the church Friday at 7 p.m. We were glad to have an important Christian addition at the rehearsal last week. Are you in it?

The sermon subject next Sunday will be "The Church and Labor." A careful statement of the attitude of the protestant church toward labor will be made. We will welcome a "come-back" from any one on the subject.

The people of the church have shipped four large bags of old clothes to the Chicago Goodwill Industries, where they will furnish work to the poor in making them over, and then can be bought for almost nothing by the destitute. Empty bags are at the parsonage, in the church basement, and at the home of Mrs. John Darby. Will you help to fill them?

A large congregation enjoyed Dan Singh (not dancing) at the Methodist church Sunday. Although he was 14,000 miles away from home he did not seem home-sick. A deseciple of Gandhi, he is preparing in this country for missionary in his own country, where the educated youth of India are trying to remake India on the principles of Jesus—of progress, the motto of which is love.

Mr. Singh told of trying to become a Christian when only a boy, of the opposition of his parents, who were high caste Hindus, of how at the age of eighteen, he broke away from his family and took the fatal step which made him an outcast with his own family. Although he was later partly reconciled to his people, he was disinherited and thrown on his own resources. He is convinced that only the religion of Jesus can redeem India from its religious selfishness, from caste, and from child marriage, and the low position of women.

The motive of the Hindu is to court favor with God so as to get to heaven. He thinks little of his duty toward others. The caste raises artificial barriers which impede progress in science, politics or religion. The position of woman is low; she gains salvation only through her husband. If he goes to the wrong place, oh My! Singh was married at the age of thirteen to a girl of nine. Among the high caste people, though the children are mated so young, they do not go to live with each other until they are about twenty years old. When he became a Christian that broke the contract, unless she chose to accompany him and become a Christian too. She did not so choose, probably from pressure on the part of her family, so the alliance was dissolved, without his ever having seen the girl.

These and many other things of interest Mr. Singh told of that ancient land of wonders and contrasts, from millions of outcasts on the verge of starvation to the rug which cost $1,500,000 for the home of one of the Rajahs in Juniper. We were very sorry that he had to leave early to catch the night train south.

Many Employed at Ford Motor Company Plants

Employment in the Ford Motor Company organization is now at the highest point in the company's history and reflects in a general way the prosperous condition existing in the country as well as in the automobile industry.

There are approximately 157,000 workers employed in Ford Industries in the United States, according to recent figures. Of these, more than 21,000 work in branch assembly plants.

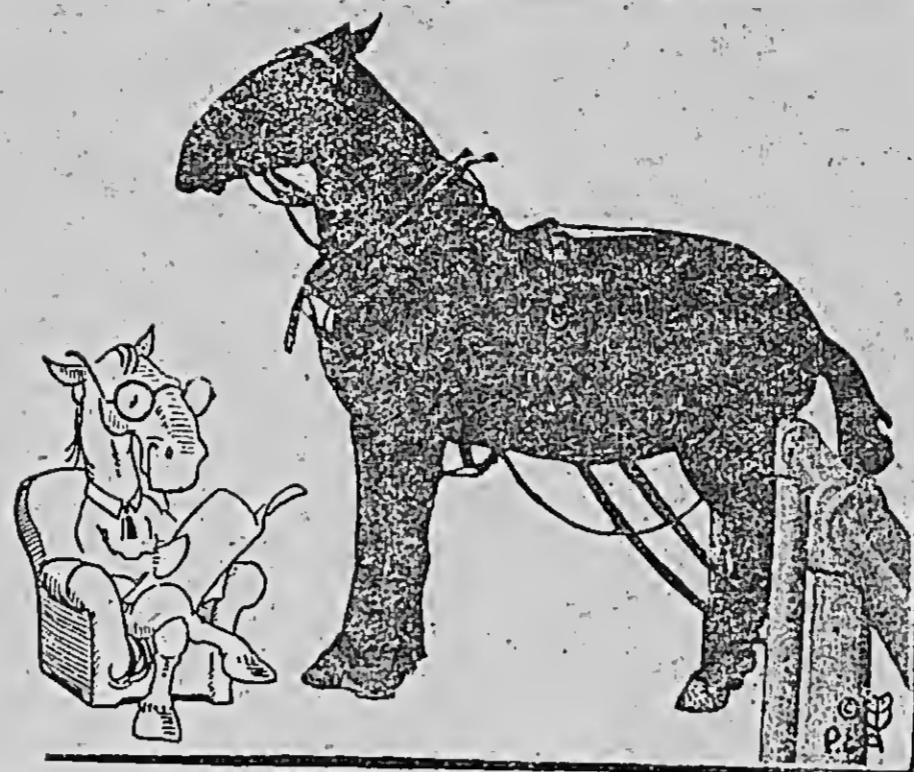

The largest number employed in any single manufacturing unit, is, of course, at the Highland Park plant at Detroit, where 63,500 men are at work.

The biggest increase in the number employed at any one place during the last year was made at the River Rouge plant of the company. A year ago 28,000 men were employed there, while today there are nearly 42,000 workers on the payroll.

Other manufacturing units, including the Lincoln car plant at Detroit, and the plants at Kearny, N. J., Hamilton, Ohio, Green Island, N. Y., Glassmere, Pa., and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., employ close to 11,000 men.

There are in addition to all these some 700 employees in the Henry Ford Hospital at Detroit, more than 700 in the Henry Ford Trade school at Highland Park, and there are more than 11,000 employees in the foreign branches of the company.

San Francisco has laid claim to her of the equine world? We'll say it.

Many odd things in its scenery, but here's one of its sidelights that sure "takes the cake." Pictured above is the "laziest horse in the world," whose driver dares any other horse-flesh enthusiast in the universe to dispute the title.

"Lazy" hardly describes this "nag." In fact, if the ordinary "teamo" described him, we're afraid we couldn't put it into print. But be that as it may—wouldn't such a pose for the feed bag on him at noon.

San Francisco has laid claim to her of the equine world? We'll say it.

You see—this horse is one of a team of truck horses whose duty it is to pull a load down to a San Francisco wharf daily. It takes all day to shift the load so the horses have to wait.

What Do They Get?—Ask Milk Farmers

Farmers of Richmond section take issue with the Milk News regarding their article on "Paying the Farmer for Reacting Cows." The following is a reprint of recent article of the Richmond Gazette:

"How much do farmers receive for cattle which react to the tuberculin test applied under federal and state supervision?

In the Milk News for January, 1924, Vol. 30, No. 1, the following article appears on page 6.

Paying the Farmer for Reacting Cows
"In making a dairyman to sign on the dotted line an application to have

WHAT DO CLOTHES MEAN IN YOUR LIFE?

Clothes are likely to be just an incident with most men—but they ought to be a very important matter.

You'll agree to it too if you'll stop to think of the important things good clothes do for you.

Doesn't a man have to have confidence in himself to succeed? Good clothes help to create it.

Doesn't a man have to have the confidence of others to get very far in life? Good clothes get that for you.

Is it important to make good first impressions? Good clothes again.

Is it worth while to have pride in yourself and in your appearance? You can't have it without good clothes.

Good clothes influence your thoughts, your acts, your success.

Two top coat styles are shown above; both good ones. You'll see them on well dressed men for spring.

His cows tuberculin tested, he is usually told that he will be paid for all the reactors found. Take a pure bred cow for instance, the most that the state and federal government allow for such an animal is $50.00, while the limit on a common or grade cow is $25.00.

If you are fortunate enough to get an appraisement of $75 on a registered animal, which is the highest allowed and she brings $15 in the yards, you are entitled to collect one-third of the balance, $20, from the state, one-third, i. e., $20 more from the federal government, which added to the $15 mentioned, makes a total of $55, all you receive to cover your loss. In other words, you are compelled to abide by the appraised valuation in which you have no voice and then stand one-third of the computed loss."

Please note that the above mentioned article states that $75.00 is the highest appraisement allowed on a registered animal.

This statement is absolutely untrue as proven by the appraisements which have been made in McHenry county. Purebred shorthorn cattle owned by a Cerial township breeder were appraised at $100 to $200; pure bred Holstein cattle owned by breeders in Dorr, Nunda, Greenwood, McHenry, Hebron, Alde, Chemung, Dunham and Marango townships were appraised as high as $225.

Pure bred Hereford cattle owned by Dorr and Hartland breeders have been appraised as high as $250. I have received $135 for indemnity and salvage on one pure bred animal.

The statement does not hold good even with grade cattle, for owners of grade cattle in various parts of McHenry county have reported appraisements of $75, $80 and over.

As a dairy farmer and as a member of the Milk Producers' association it appears self evident that we will accomplish much more if we will stick to facts and publish such facts. The time has arrived when dairy farmers as well as other farmers must tuberculin test their cattle if they wish to maintain a market for the dairy products and the livestock.

Fifty-six (56,000) thousand farmers in Illinois have had their herds tested for tuberculosis at this writing and new herds are being tested in Illinois at the rate of one hundred to one hundred and fifty per day.

The figures which have been given above regarding appraisements which disprove the statements in the article published in the Milk News may be verified by getting in touch with Dr. J. J. Lintner, in charge of tuberculosis eradication work, Chicago, or breeders who have had their herds tested and have had reactors, among whom are: H. D. Crumb, Harvard; Peter Feltes, Woodstock; C. W. Harrison & Son, Ringwood; John A. Miller, McHenry; W. H. Gardner, Solon Mills; C. C. Harrison, Ringwood; D. J. Olmstead, Woodstock; John C. Olbrich, Harvard; Leroy J. Nish, Crystal Lake; R. R. Turner, Richmond; F. B. McConnell, Woodstock; H. T. Eppell, Woodstock; A. M. Schmitt, McHenry; C. W. Gibbs, West McHenry; L. S. Overton, Richmond; G. E. Dyert, Woodstock; Karl Gast Marengo; Geo. Gay & Son, Harvard; G. J. Richardson, Richmond.

Signed, D. L. Thomas, Ringwood.

PROPOSAL TO MAKE MILK THE NATIONAL DRINK IS FAVORED

"Resolved that we, the agricultural representatives of the Commonwealth of the great state of Kansas, do favor and recommend the establishment of milk as a national drink."

This resolution was adopted at the Kansas Agricultural Convention held early in January at Topeka, Kansas.

The convention included prominent

Who Owns This Company?

THE OWNERSHIP of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois is not vested in a few but is widely distributed among its more than 252,981 customers.

Investing in a Company rendering essential services to a community, opportunity is offered individuals with moderate surplus savings to participate in the growth and betterment of the place in which they live.

The revenues of this Company being derived from the sale of services to the public, which are necessities rather than luxuries, are stable and not subject to violent ups and downs.

This Company extended service to 32,821 new customers last year, the largest number of customers obtained in any one year in the Company's history.

agricultural organization and officials of the state.

The resolution was based on the preamble that "our boys and girls are the men and women of tomorrow, and healthy physique is conducive to good citizenship," other basis for the resolution was recognition that the dairy cow is the foster mother and an important financial support of the Nation.

This resolution is believed, by dairy officials of the United States department of Agriculture to be the first of its kind on record. Dr. C. W. Larson, Chief of the Dairy Division of the department, expressed the opinion that the proposal to make milk a national drink is an appropriate recognition of "the drink of health," as it is sometimes called.

"Certainly," Dr. Larson remarked, "it is worthy of the distinction as a national beverage. In addition to its high nutritive value and health-giving properties as a drink, it yields other valuable food products, including butter, cheese, ice cream, milk powder and condensed milk. Its by-products enter into the manufacture of almost countless products. The widespread distribution of dairy in every state and its growth in our island possessions also appear to warrant the selection of milk as a national drink."

STATE GUARD HERDS AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

Connecticut livestock sanitary officials recently established a regulation requiring that herds of cattle under State or Federal supervision for the eradication of tuberculosis shall admit only cattle coming from herds under similar supervision.

Although the regulation may cause dealers inconvenience for a time, both State and Federal authorities agree that the ruling will benefit the herd owners and result in good for the already high-standing cattle industry of the State. It will also further the national movement for the eradication of tuberculosis.

In the opinion of veterans of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, the supply of tuberculosis-free cattle no longer an obstacle to such a policy of replacement as supervision has become so general. It now includes more than half a million herds, of which about 1,500 are in Connecticut and over 25,000 more are in other New England states.

WAKE UP FRESH AND VIGOROUS AFTER USING VEGETABLE SYRUP

Many people here are neither very well nor very sick, but never really feel their best at this time of the year—due to a sluggish liver.

If you often wake up dull and tired, if your tongue is coated; bad taste; complexion sallow; digestion poor; constipated, nervous and upset; if you catch cold easily and your system is too run-down to throw off these ailments. You will feel badly until your liver has been properly cleansed and toned.

Get quick relief! Take just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. Contains ingredients known to physicians for their corrective and health-building properties. Pleasant to take, and you will be completely satisfied; otherwise druggists will return the small cost. Dr. Thacher's is sold and recommended by Dr. H. H. Reeves in Antioch and by leading druggists in every city and town.

Preserve the Home Ties

Breaking home ties often means pain and sorrow, both to those who go and to those who stay. But with the telephone at your elbow day and night, home ties need not be broken.

In a short time, usually a few minutes, you can reach your home by the wire route from almost any city, town, or village in the United States no matter how distant.

A short talk with the loved ones at home and the home feeling is established once more. And how it does please the home folks!

company under headway temporary officers and directors were named. Among the new directors in this locality are Evan Kayo, Antioch; M. W. Merry, Hebron, and A. J. Nelson,

By unanimous vote of a large gathering of milk producers at Weller's hall Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 27, it was decided to hold the Marketing Co., to its ten year lease, on the building owned by the Badger Dairy Co., in Burlington.

The meeting was called to order by President Wm. J. Bauman, who said farmers were all familiar with the local situation and the matter up for discussion was whether to close the plant or to continue to operate it as it has been operated in the past.

This raised the question as to the lease on the building and Attorney Baker, representative of the David J. James Co., of Racine, was called upon. Mr. Baker said his company intended to protect the bonds it had sold and strongly objected to releasing the Marketing Co., from its lease. He said the release was a direct obligation and he believed the company should be held to it.

After it had been voted to hold the company to its lease the question arose as to the handling of the milk. In reply to a question Adolph March stated that the plant would not be closed March 1, and that farmers could deliver milk there without signing a contract.

He stated that there is now an opportunity for Burlington producers to get into the Chicago raw milk market, which should pay a higher price than the condensed or evaporated milk market and he urged farmers to bring their milk to their own plant for at least the next three months to give the company an opportunity to show what they could do.

He stated that the time was never better for a strong co-operative company and unless the producers stood together they would be back to where they were four years ago. He went over some of the points covered by Mr. Williams in his talk last Friday. At a meeting at the Crystal Theatre last Friday J. T. Williams, president of the Co-operative Marketing Co., explained that this company was going out of business and that a new concern to be known as the Mid-West Dairymen's company was organized to take its place.

He explained at length the new contract drawn up by the Mid-West Dairymen's Co., as well as the position the Co-operative Marketing Co. would take in connection with the plant of the Badger Dairy Co., in that city.

It will be remembered that the factory of the Badger Dairy Co., was built by local capital and the equipment installed by the Co-operative Marketing Co. The Marketing Co. was to pay rental on the building and make a ten year contract. This contract Mr. Williams explained was made to relieve the nine local dairies. He said he had heard that, because the Marketing Co. was going out of business March 1, some favored seizing the machinery to apply on damages for the enclosed contract.

He said he would resist this because it would not be fair to members elsewhere. He suggested that an appraisal be made of the equipment and that the Burlington farmers buying it, paying for it with the bonds they now hold representing the one month milk check.

Being sole owners of their plant and equipment, the farmers could then lease the entire property to the Mid-West Dairymen's Co., and enter into a contract which would bring them into the so called "can pool."

Under the old contract the can shipper was in the fluid milk market only and he could not get enough for his milk as there was no stability in the prices paid can dealers.

In explaining the new contract offered by the Mid-West Dairymen's Co., Mr. Williams pointed out that the farmers might as well face the facts no matter how fair or unfair they were. First he said that the farmers around the Bowman and Borden milk plants should be put in a class by themselves. Then he explained the expenses connected with shipping canned milk to Chicago and pointed out that those country plants operated by the new company would be put in the can shippers division obtaining advantage of the "can pool."

The farmers being primarily interested in price, Mr. Williams stated that under the new price they could not average the price paid for fluid milk at the Borden and Bowman plants but if they entered the can pool their average price for the year would be as good as the other price given in the manufactured districts.

Mr. Williams at every turn discouraged the farmers from operating their own plant and selling through a porting the big cities. They are feeding these millions of people, and a whole lot of them are not producers. Many of them are unessential employees who would be better off in every way if they were in the country. These unessential employees, non-producers, are taking care of the business that comes to the cities from the farms.

That is just another reason for spreading your money and doing your business at home—as far as is possible. Suppose we lot these big cities support themselves for a while. Let them depend on their millions of people. We need certain industrial products of the cities, of course, but we could produce them closer to the farms if we had to. And we do not need a lot of the so-called service and business advantages that are played in page ads in the city papers and catalogues.

A complete sales record of the Cooperative Marketing Co. showed that the Brokerage concern which was represented here some weeks ago had not received the prices that the six or seven other concerns who sold milk for the company had received. It had been "low man" consistently throughout the year and still the local farmers had been urged to sign an exclusive contract with it.

Freight rates on shipped milk and the enormous amount of capital necessary before the farmers could successfully operate their own plant were two big factors explained to the farmers by officials of the Marketing Co. after Mr. Williams had concluded his talk.

As we have said before, there is nothing unjust about the competition between cities and rural communities. This competition is natural, legal and fair. If rural communities fail to hold their own business and population, it is their own fault. It might be wise to realize this fact, a wise thing for our home towns as well as for the cities. If the cities continue to pull their business and their workers and their food from the farms, they will soon bleed to death their only means of support.

And poverty and starvation can be infinitely more exquisite in a great city than on the farm.

Not a dollar of the money necessarily spent away from home will help pay your taxes, build up your town, make your community better, or increase the value of your land. Every dollar you spend at home helps to do these things.

Live towns, full of live advertisers, are holding their business. Good business means growth and prosperity in the small towns, just as it does in the cities.

If you keep your town booming; outside competition will fall. If young men and women stay on the farm or in the home towns, it will be because of the opportunities they will have. They will not have these opportunities in the dead burbs.

If you want your customers to read the home town paper instead of a mail order catalog, put some of your own bargains in it.

Opposing Captain—Why don't you fire Smathers out? He can't tackle, he can't run, and he can't kick.

Manager of home team—No; but every member of the team owes him money.

A dress-goods salesman used as a clincher the argument: "It just suits your style." He was so successful with this somewhat ambiguous phrase that he grew careless and finally met his Waterloo. That was the day he tried to sell a polka-dot to a freckled-faced girl.

He—Once I loved a girl and she made a fool of me.

She (sweetly)—What a lasting impression some girls make!
